Preamble:

The American Board Emergency Medicine (ABEM) is an established certification program recognized by the American Board of Medical Specialties since 1979. ABEM certified physicians have graduated from:

1. The Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education* (ACGME); or
2. An ABEM-approved combined training program; or
3. The Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada (RCPSC) Emergency Medicine program.

*Emergency Medicine training programs accredited by the ACGME are configured one of two ways: PGY 1-3: A three-year program or PGY 1-4: A four-year program.

Policy:

If otherwise qualified for licensure, the Registrar, Registration Committee, or the Registration Appeal Committee may issue a Restricted Licence to a physician holding the ABEM Certification.

Practice will be restricted to Emergency Medicine.
